

Abound Food Care

Greater Food Security
Less Food Waste

Edible Food Recovery

We implement food recovery programs that help jurisdictions comply with state food recovery laws by coordinating food generator compliance and inspections while strengthening local food systems.

THE PROBLEM

Food recovery programs are often difficult to coordinate and scale effectively. This limits state compliance, increases food waste, and reduces access to nutritious food.

THE SOLUTION

We create coordinated food recovery systems that connect food businesses, nonprofits, and communities to reduce food waste and increase access to nutritious food.

BENEFITS

Support Edible Food Recovery Compliance

We build food recovery programs to help cities reach compliance with state food recovery laws (Ex: CA SB1383).

Compliance Inspections

We coordinate inspections to verify generator compliance to meet reporting requirements.

Generator Education

We educate food businesses on compliance requirements, the impact of food donations, and how to donate food safely.

Food Recovery Organization Inspections

We conduct food safety and compliance inspections to ensure organizations are not only meeting reporting requirements, but are handling food safely.

Food Donation Tracking

We provide access to a food donation platform that coordinates safe and efficient food donations between donors and nonprofit recipient while tracking valuable food recovery data.

We optimize food systems to create healthy, food secure communities.

WHO DO WE WORK WITH?

We align resources and create public, private, and nonprofit partnerships in the food system for greater food security.

Our solutions are designed to function independently or as part of a coordinated regional model, creating greater impact through collaboration, shared resources, and system-wide efficiency.

“Abound Food Care has become a national model. From my personal experience and interaction within the industry, you are paving the way for edible food recovery.”

— Tom Koutroulis | Director - Orange County Waste & Recycling
